

History of the First World War Masterclass: 'Command in War' 1914-18

Friday 11 to Sunday 13 July 2014

During the centenary of the First World War, the University of Wolverhampton's First World War Research Group is offering unique opportunities to explore key topics in great depth through lectures, seminars, and conflict simulations in an intensive weekend of study, at a luxurious hotel in Staffordshire.

Our first Masterclass features four leading military historians.

Professor Gary Sheffield
The Generalship of Douglas Haig

Professor Stephen Badsey
Strategic Command

Professor John Buckley (Winner, 2013 Templer Medal)
The Formative
First World War
Experiences of British High
Commanders of the Second World War

Dr Spencer Jones
(Runner-up, 2013 Templer Medal)
Experience of Battle, 1914

Held at The Mount Hotel and Conference Centre, we are pleased to offer both a residential and day-delegate rate.

Weekend package including accommodation and conference dinner: £330

Day delegate rate for Friday or Sunday: £85

Day delegate rate for Saturday: £135

A full programme of lectures will be available shortly.

We are also offering an optional Saturday afternoon field trip to Wightwick Manor at a cost of £10, which covers a private tour of the house and gardens, together with an exhibition of First World War artefacts and connections.

Places on this fascinating Masterclass are limited and likely to sell-out quickly. To book your place now, email Dr Phylomena Badsey on: P.Badsey@wlv.ac.uk
